Prologue

Our vision of a space with no limits. We've reimagined what an industrial park can be. A station that evolves into a space with limitless possibilities. A property that propels your business forward. A series of buildings that offers a place to build something new. A distribution centre that serves as a center for growth and innovation. A shipping hub that transforms into a community hub that puts people first. Welcome to an industrial park that facilitates dreams.

That moves beyond what a regular distribution centre can be. A hub of unmatched scale that can be adapted to suit your every need. Located in Caledon near major transportation networks, including the 410, 407 and 401, and with surrounding greenspaces, a treelined walking trail and communal seating areas, it's the perfect ecosystem for both businesses and people to thrive.

Embrace a station that's boundless. That's always moving forward. That never stops. Welcome to Station Twelve, Caledon Industrial Park.

The Story of StationTwelve

Phase One, Building One Rendering

A masterfully planned district

For high-performing companies and brands looking to gain a competitive edge in today's market, Station Twelve is a modern industrial hub of impressive scale and ambition created to advance your business goals. This is the next frontier in warehousing and logistics — an expansive multi-phased project envisioned by QuadReal Property Group, designed to open endless possibilities for your company. Move forward with no limits.

Remarkable in scale and intention

One of few industrial sites of this magnitude to be delivered in the Greater Toronto Area in the coming years, Station Twelve goes beyond sheer size and sophistication to prioritize the things that matter to the modern occupier: optionality in building size, built for maximum efficiency, proximity to transit and workforces, and a focus on wellness and sustainability.

Not your average logistics facility

Station Twelve is more than your standard business campus. It is a visionary master-planned industrial community made up of multiple symbiotic districts and phases connected by a common municipal address starting with 12. As a whole, the community is designed to facilitate seamless logistics, promote wellness and sustainability in concrete ways, and integrate within the existing community of Caledon.

Chapter 02

The Rise of Caledon

A vital logistics and distribution hub

Station Twelve sits on the southern-most border of Caledon at an integral gateway to the Greater Toronto Area. It is a nascent, growing frontier poised for rapid expansion with a significant amount of employment lands planned along the urban boundary of the Township. Station Twelve is positioned to become a business landmark in Caledon—an impressive 347-acre expanse beside the Hwy 410 ramp, with quick access to the 400-series network of highways and two CP Intermodal terminals, connecting you to suppliers and customers far and wide.

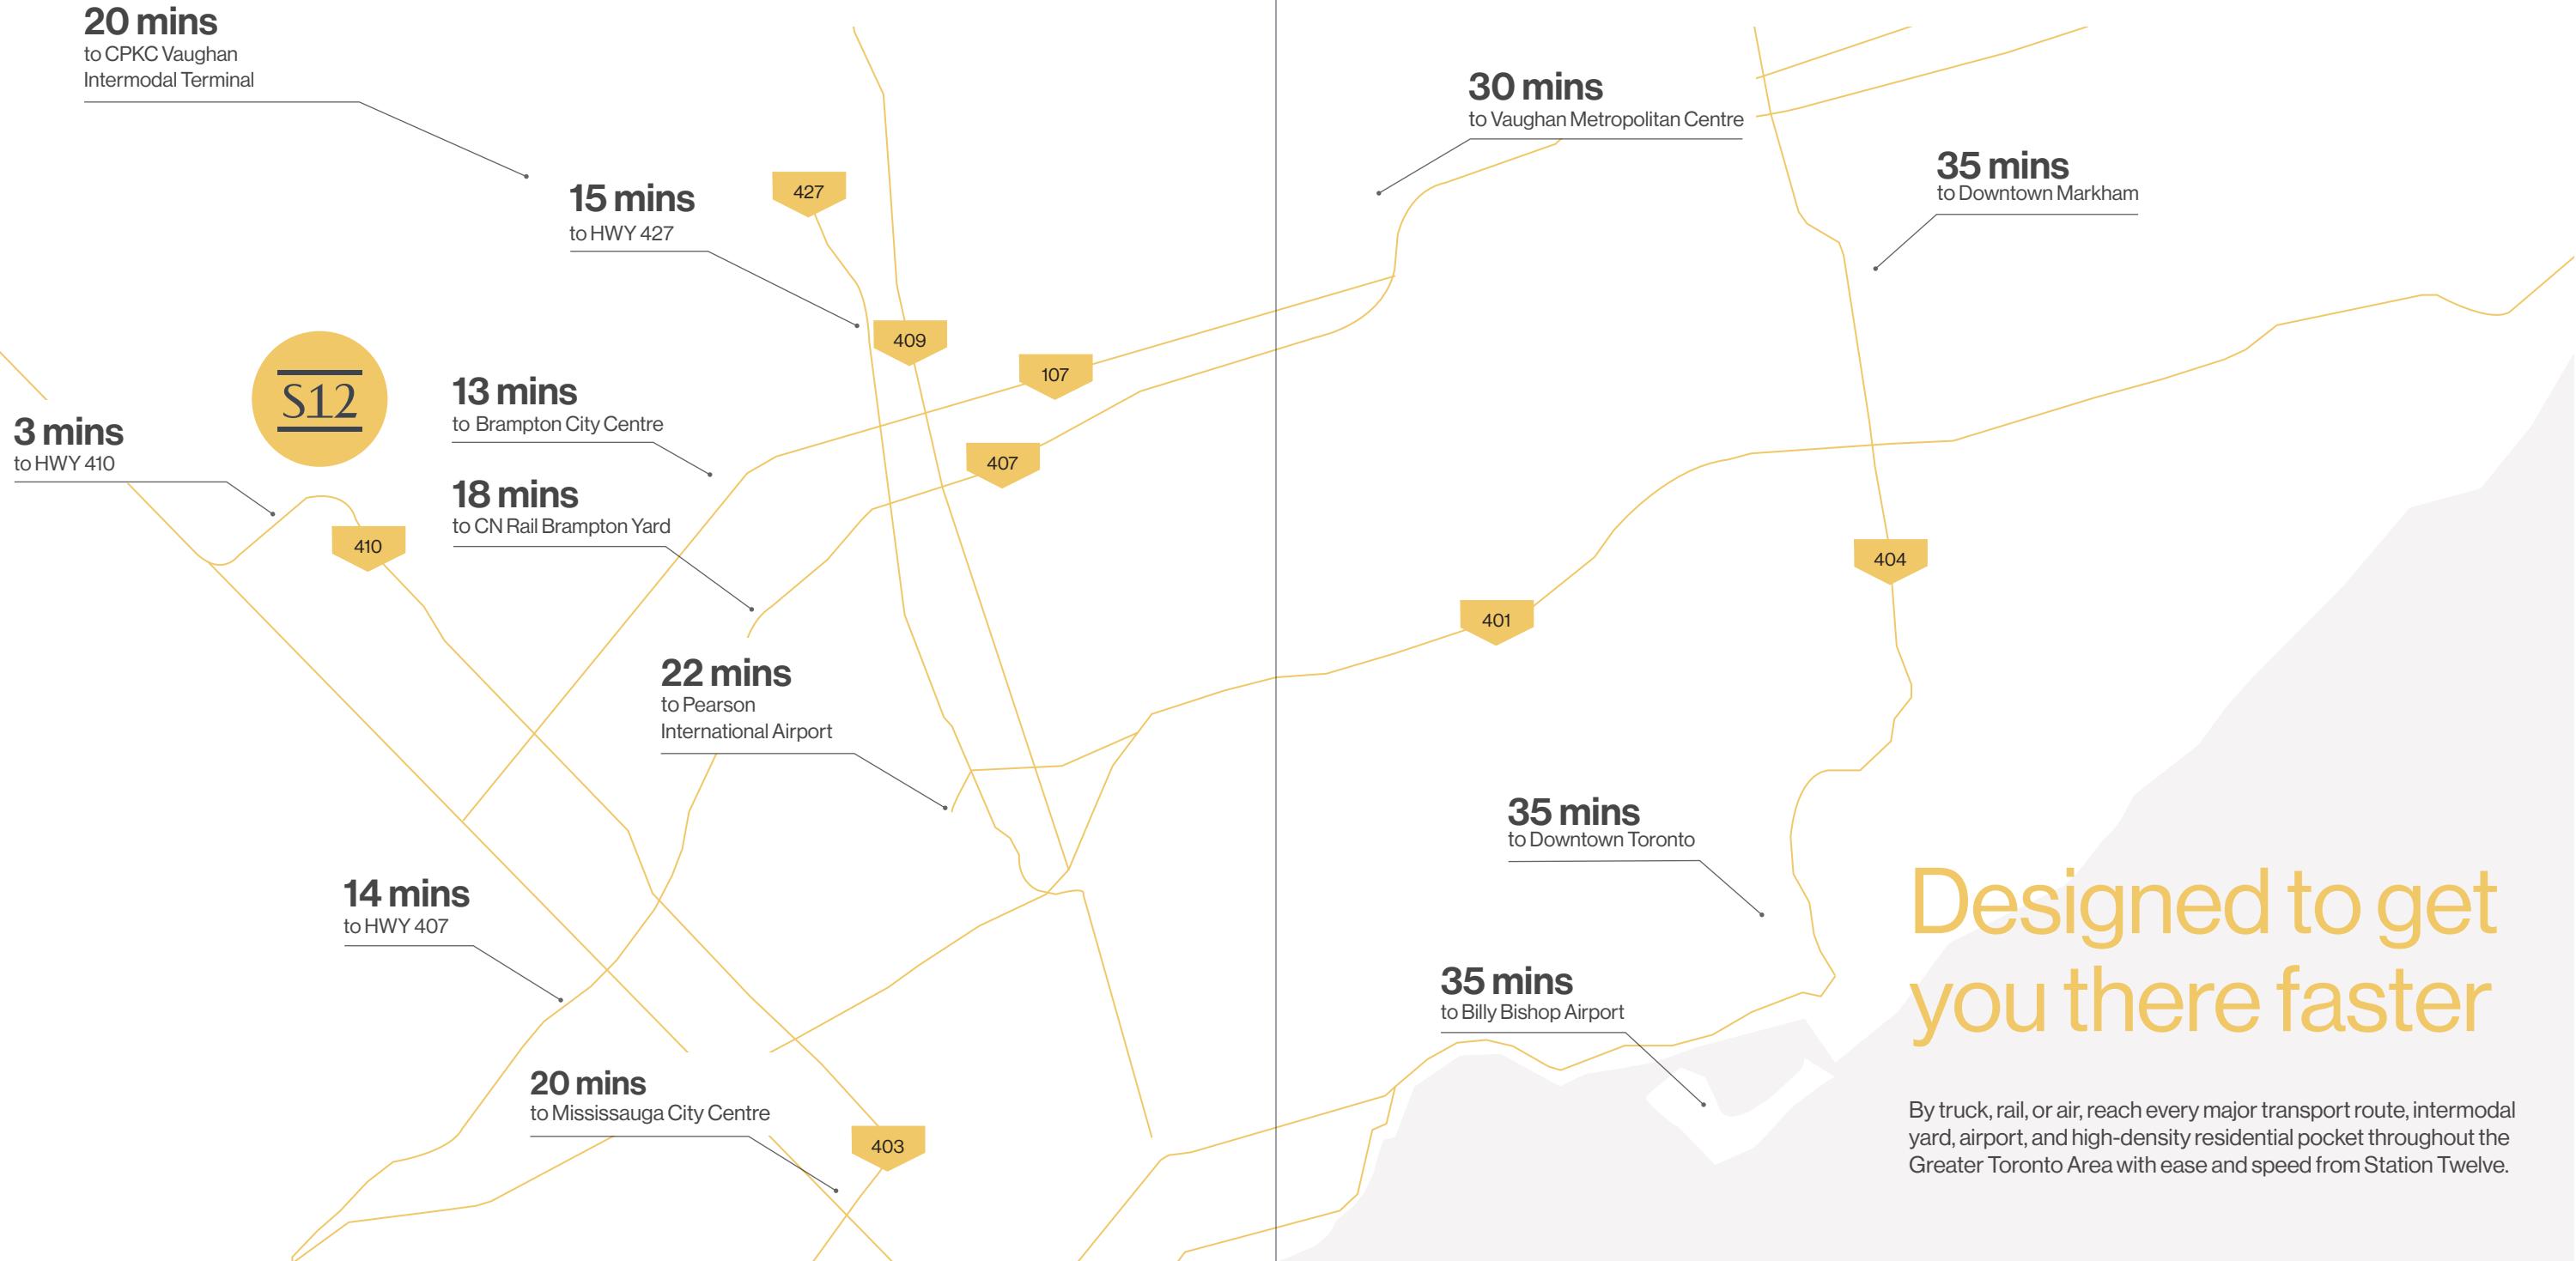

A multimodal transport corridor

Station Twelve is located at the junction of key existing and planned transportation routes. A short 3-minute drive to the 410 at Mayfield Road interchange connects you to the 407 and 401, and by extension the 400 series highways, with ease and speed.

Situated along the preferred route of the future GTA West Multimodal Transportation Corridor — a major east-west highway (Hwy 413) connecting Highways 400 and 407 — Station Twelve places you at the confluence of two of the most important transportation routes in the Western Greater Toronto Area.

Chapter 03

A Strategic Dot
on the Map

The commute to Station Twelve is about to get even easier

In September of 2023, Bus Route 18 was extended North past Mayfield Road to service the growing industrial lands in the area with additional stops to be added in the future.

There are current plans with the Township to add a transit stop directly at the gates of Station Twelve, making it a more convenient commute for employees from surrounding areas.

Connections by transit

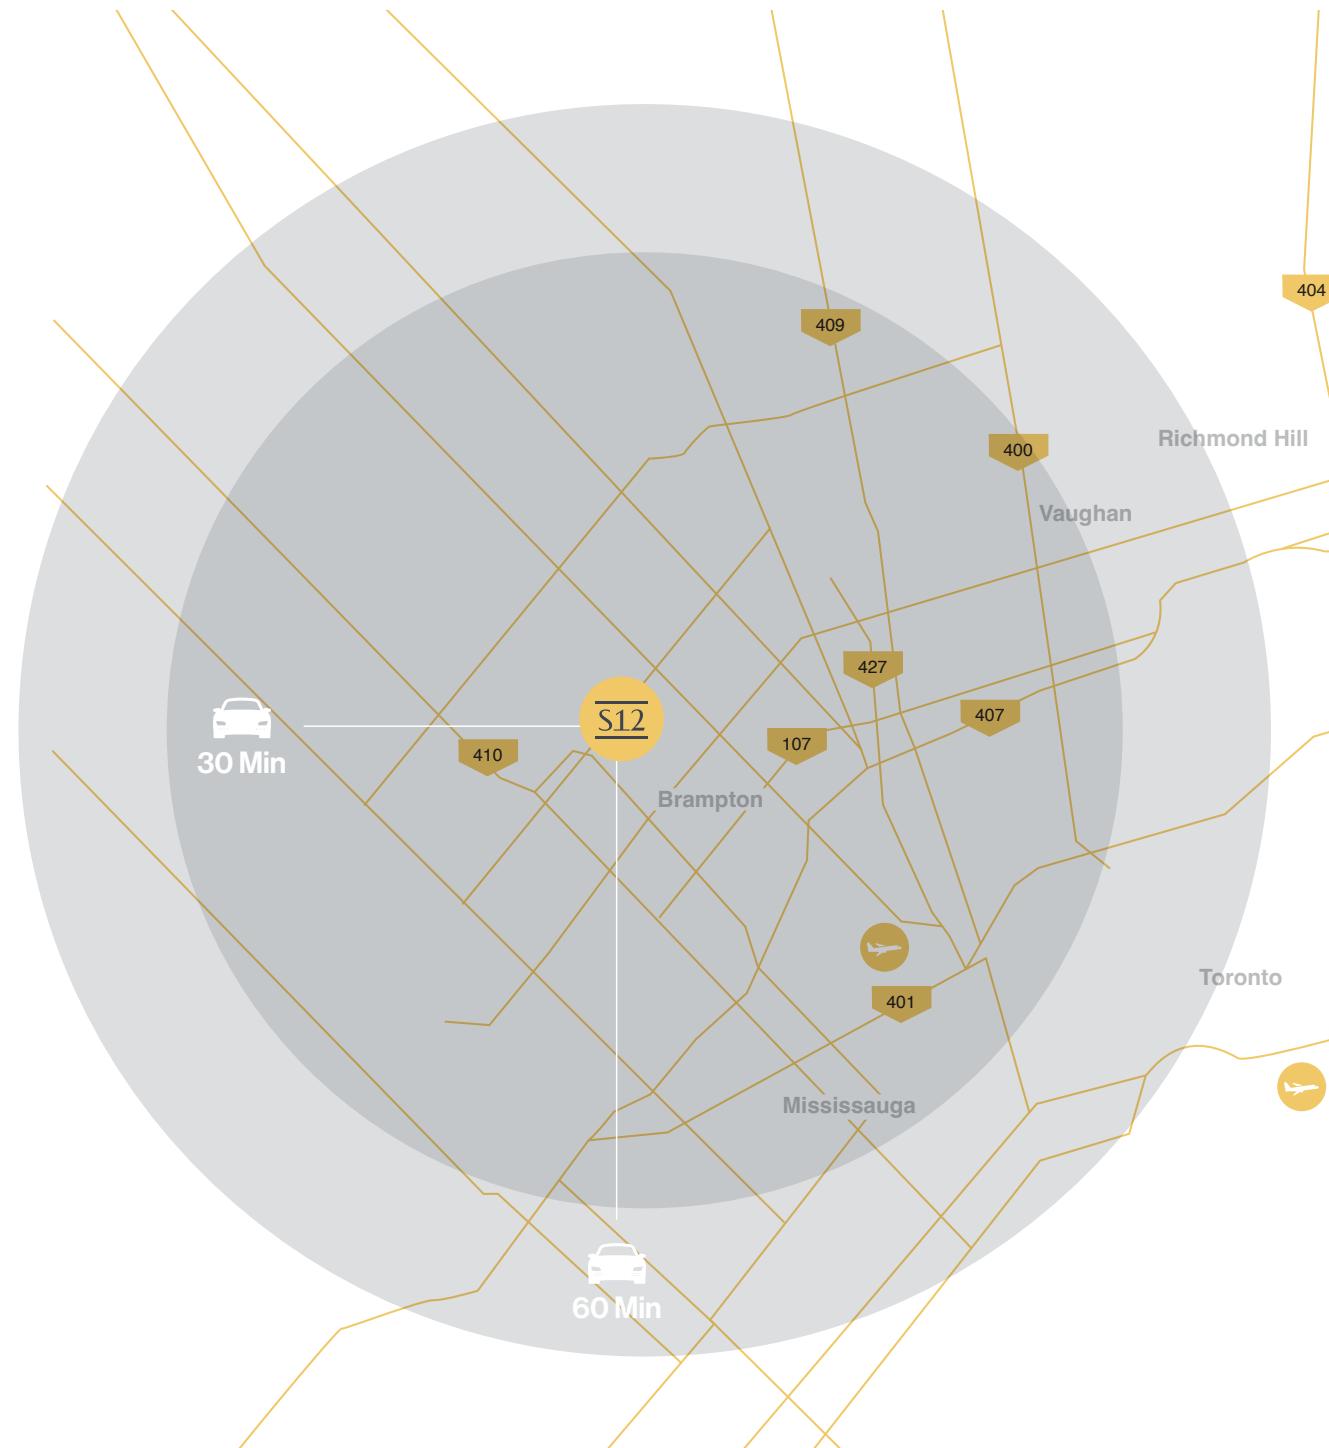

Brampton Transit has expanded Bus Route 18 in the immediate area with additional stops to be added and the potential to service the site directly.

9-minute walk to site from current transit stop.

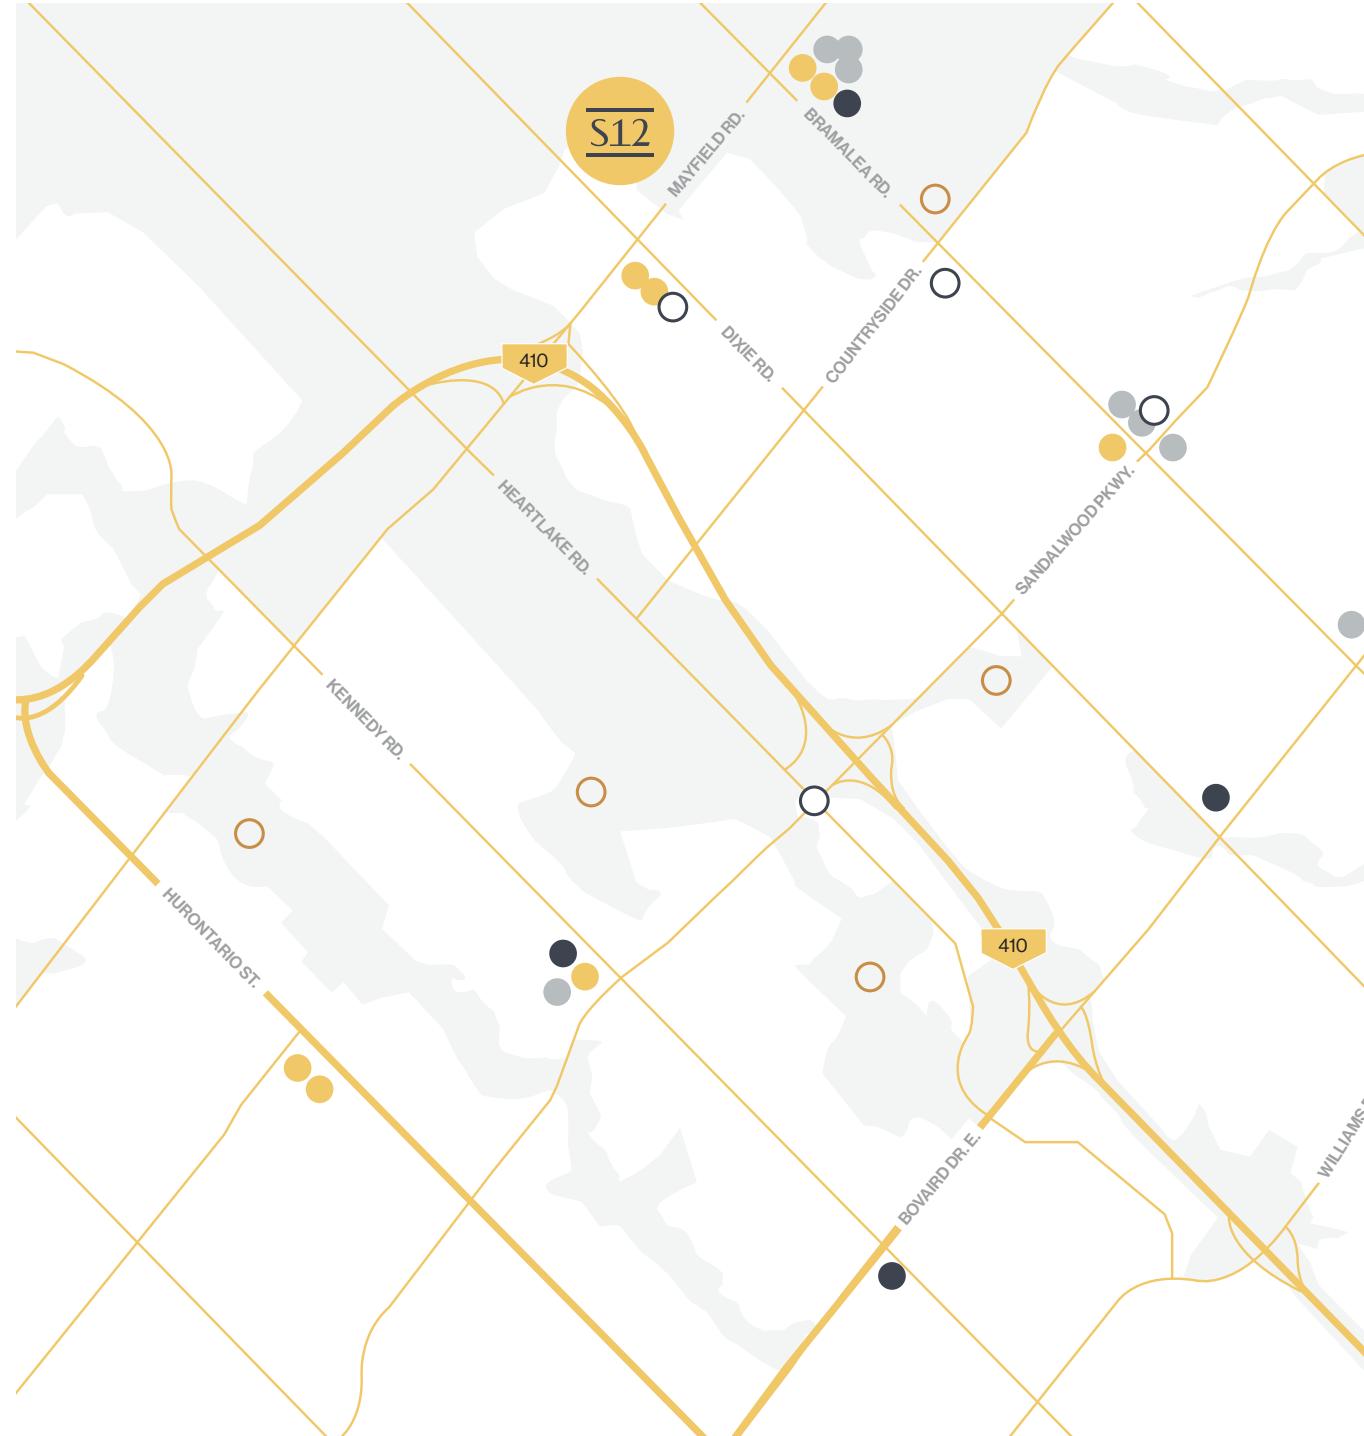

Surrounded by Greater Toronto's strongest labour pools

One of the most noteworthy attributes of Station Twelve is how close and accessible it is to some of the strongest labour markets in the Greater Toronto Area. Brampton and Mississauga, two of the largest, most coveted, and fastest growing labour pools in the province of Ontario, are within a 30-minute drive to Station Twelve.

A refreshing take on health and wellness

One of the most unique benefits of Station Twelve is its purposeful focus on employee well-being. Inspired by the surrounding natural heritage of Caledon, the planned greenspace in phase one features a landscaped walking trail with multiple patio areas with outdoor seating for occupiers to enjoy during lunch or breaks. The newly built path follows and enhances a meandering stream that supports the area's natural wildlife and connects the four distinct outdoor amenity pods scattered throughout phase one of the property.

Committed to real, actionable sustainability

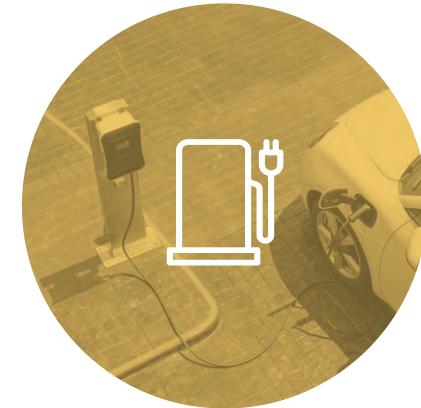

We are committed to building for a greener future, and we put concrete action behind our words. That is why Station Twelve is designed with sustainability features that actively reduce the property's collective carbon footprint. We are working towards LEED certification for the entire Station Twelve site.

White roofs limit heat absorption and reduce energy costs.

On-site bike racks promote sustainable transportation and active, healthy living.

EV charging stations support the Greater Toronto Area's growing EV infrastructure.

Landscape design with mature, native trees and foliage integrated with the community.

Ready to accommodate solar installations.

Construction material to reduce the "heat island" effect.
